I am going to talk about my plan to go on a trip in Suzhou. I have arranged to visit there with my boyfriend in a cool autumn.

Suzhou is a breathtaking city, and it is well known as a beautiful city with so many beautiful gardens. With so many delicious foods and stunning views, the public has a special feeling of about this famous city, and that's why I have always wanted to travel there. I guess that the trip to Suzhou is going to be so enjoyable because I am interested in its well-designed gardens. Also, there is a lot of delicious food in this city, especially my favorite fish dishes. We schedule to visit various tourist destinations, and we plan to cycle in the streets so that we could have more chances to know more about this city.

The main reason why I would like to travel there by riding a bike is because it allows us to travel freely without considering other people's timetable. As you know, you have to comply with the timetable strictly if you go on a package tour. What's more, we can enjoy some private space, and enjoy beautiful sceneries along the road at the same time.

Back in January 2019, I headed home to Xi'an to spend the Spring Festival with my family. While we were all together, my older sister received some phenomenal news that made me as proud as a peacock. If you don't mind, I'd love to tell you all about it.

For as long as I can remember, my sister has dreamt of attending school abroad. Just before she finished her bachelor's degree, she decided that New South Wales University would be the perfect match for her. So, she began the long process of applying to do their master's program. There were a lot of requirements to be met though, as she had to achieve high language scores and so much more. After months of jumping through hoops, she finally received an email stating that she had been accepted.

When we found out my sister was accepted into the university of her dreams, we all got to work planning a celebratory dinner. I was so happy for her because her hard work and persistence had paid off. Of course, I knew she would be accepted, because she has dedicated her life to learning. Today, she is living her best life in Wales and couldn't be happier. Whenever I think of her accomplishments, I am proud to call her my sister and hope to have the success she has had.

Not long ago, while I was watching the Olympics, I learned a bit about a table tennis player called Ovtcharov. He was one of the most talented players that I'd ever seen compete, which made me want to learn more about him.

After poking around on the internet, I learned that Ovtcharov is a famous German athlete. He has won many European gold medals, and at one point, he was ranked as the number one table tennis player in the world. During the Olympics, he didn't come out on top, but he did win the silver medal during the doubles event and the bronze during the singles event. Of course, this is nothing to scoff at.

I think Ovtcharov is a brilliant player. He has a natural talent for the game and he is always willing to take pointers from those around him. He is a very humble man that is eager to improve on his skills. I truly hope that he competes in the next Olympics, because he always has interesting things to say when he is interviewed. It is quite enlightening to listen to him talk. Plus, he has a bit of a sense of humor. He has even asked his wife to dress up as his top opponent when they practice together. When I heard this, I couldn't help but crack up.

B 花费超过预期的物品

During the summer of 2020, I discovered that I was in need of a new desktop computer, which made me start shopping around immediately. I was certain that I'd find a great deal, but the lowest price I could find was 7,000 yuan. As you can imagine, this forced me to take a step back to rethink this expensive purchase.

At the time, my computer started running very slow. It was frustrating to work on it, which was unfortunate since I had to do most of my assignments on it. Unfortunately, my monthly income was not enough to purchase a new computer. This left me in a huge bind because I knew I couldn't continue with this computer. In the end, I had to take on a part time job in order to make the extra money that I needed for the purchase of the computer.

Spending such a large sum of money has always been hard for me, even though I knew that a new computer was a necessity for school. However, I had to weigh up the options of how badly another job would interfere with my studies. In the end, I knew that having a part time job would be the only logical option, because I would be in a world of trouble if my desktop computer completely crashed on me. So, I buckled down and did the extra work until I could finally get the computer that I needed.

This little coffee shop offered a quiet and undisturbed environment, as well as specialty drinks. As you can imagine we were immediately hooked.

When we walked into the café, we were a little surprised by how spacious the interior was, because the shop looked rather small from the outside. Inside, it was very quiet and comfortable. A few people were even studying and seemed to be making some headway, thanks to the environment. We were immediately seated and offered a menu that showed off a huge selection of specialty drinks. It felt almost impossible to make a selection. We both chose a different coffee so that we could taste each other's drinks, and I have to say, both were out of this world.

While we visited the café, I couldn't help but feel relaxed. The setting helped us to unwind after a day of walking through the crowds, which was definitely welcomed. We planned to head back to this café as soon as we could because it is the perfect setting for a date. The atmosphere is intimate, so we can quietly chat without being disturbed. Plus, we both want to try more of their incredible specialty drinks.

Tang Weishao has always been a bit of an overachiever. However, because of this, many people look up to him. When we were in school, he worked hard to achieve top notch grades. According to him, the key to success was being an early riser. This habit allowed him to hit the books in the early hours of the morning, when his mind was still fresh. Then, he would run to help prepare his body for the day ahead. This made perfect sense to me and inspired me to try his schedule out, which worked like a charm for me too.

I am glad that I have someone as inspiring as Tang Weishao in my life. He is determined and diligent, which is something I find to be very admirable. He achieves all his goals through hard work and deserves everything that he accomplishes. I don't know where I would be in life without his inspiration. Afterall, I did model my daily routine after his when I was just a kid.

This series is all about a boy named Harry Potter. As a baby, his parents are murdered by an evil wizard named Lord Voldemort. However, Harry Potter manages to resist the evil wizard's magic. His time there, prepares him for a long journey that leads him and his friends to use love and courage to defeat the dark wizard for good. This summer, I had the opportunity to travel to Shanghai with some of my classmates. This trip would be perfect, if I didn't have to put up with my classmate, Zhang Dingyan. Please let me share a bit more about this experience with you.

You see, before we had even set off for Shanghai, Zhang Dingyan had planned the entire trip for us. He didn't even consult anyone to see if we were willing to go along with his itinerary, which rubbed me up the wrong way to begin with. When someone expressed disinterest in his plans, he would get cheesed off and throw a tantrum. So, we all felt like we were stuck following his plans in order to keep the peace. Unfortunately, this meant wasting time seeing boring and meaningless sights and walking until our feet were aching.

Despite being annoyed with his need to take control over the situation, I tried to be as nice as possible to him. It didn't get in the way of the trip entirely though. Luckily, Shanghai has a very open atmosphere, which still allowed us to enjoy our time. Plus, the food was absolutely delicious, which made our time there incredibly rewarding. In the end, I couldn't see being mean to Zhang Dingyan, because he is a very kind person, he is just stubborn to a fault.

Answer NO.10

A 浪费时间的活动

Describe an activity you usually do that wastes your time

You should say:

What it is

When you usually do it

Why you do it

And explain why you think it wastes your time

B 难学的技能

Describe a skill that was difficult for you to learn.

You should say:

What the skill was

When you learned it

How you learned it

And explain how you felt about learning it

While I was on vacation, I figured that having a driver's license would come in handy, so I signed up for driving lessons. However, this skill really was hard to master, and for quite a while, I thought I was wasting my time.

I must admit, my experience of learning how to drive was not the best. To begin with, I would have to stand in a long line under the scorching hot sun each day before I could begin my training. My driving instructor wasn't exactly the easiest person to communicate with either. He was a little harsh and never had patience for questions and he had a really bad habit of smoking, which made my practice time all the more uncomfortable. All this combined made me dislike driving, so it was a real chore to work on the skill.

If I didn't have an urgent need to master driving, I highly doubt I would have my license right now. Learning to drive was incredibly boring for me and I felt miserable the entire time I was stuck in a car with my instructor. Plus, it took up a lot of my free time when I wasn't working, which meant I didn't get enough time to relax over the summer. At least now, I have my license and don't have to worry about dealing with that situation again.

You should say:

When you moved

Where you moved

Why you moved

And how you felt about it

In August 2019, I moved to the suburb of Xi'an where my university was located. This was a very novel experience for me, which I'd love to tell you all about it.

There is no doubt about it, I felt like a deer in the headlights during the entire situation. Since my parents couldn't come with me, I had to carry my luggage on my own, which wasn't an easy feat. Unfortunately, I had to go through the complicated admissions process before I could even get the key to my dorm. It was very stressful, especially since I had to lug my bags from one place to the next. When I finally got the key to my dorm, it took all the energy I had left to drag my luggage to my room. When it was all said and done, I barely had enough strength to make it to the bed to lay down.

I was really surprised at how hard it was to get enrolled into a school. I had to prepare a lot of paperwork on my own, which was a totally new experience for me. Then, I had to unpack and get to know the people that I to share a dorm with. When I finally got settled into my new home, I felt that it was a little strange. The dorm was surprisingly crowded, but despite this it was a very warm environment.

A 给别人建议

Describe a time when you gave advice to others

You should say:

During the summer, one of my classmates was struggling with some issues he had with his friends. At the time, I decided that I needed to approach my classmate, Zhang Dingyan, with some information before he no longer had any friends left to turn to. Please let me expand on this.

People were beginning to avoid Zhang Dingyan. You see, he is as stubborn as mule, which caused a lot of problems with the people he was hanging out with. I didn't want him to suffer the loss of all his friendships, especially since so many were on the rocks already, so I decided to be upfront with him. I told him that his stubbornness was cheesing people off and I gave him some examples of how his behavior hurt other people. I also suggested that he consider other people's feelings before pushing his own needs onto those of others.

I must admit, I was a nervous wreck to confront him about this but was relieved when he received my message with an open mind. In fact, after our conversation he began to take my advice into consideration. It was amazing to watch him grow as a person while improving his relationships. In the end, I feel like I gave him some meaningful insight into his relationships, which made me feel very fulfilled.

A 喜欢的电影

Describe a movie that you like

B 喜欢的歌手

Describe a singer you like

You should say:

Last year, I watched a cartoon movie called Legend of Deification. I must admit, I was quite impressed by the movie, and it didn't disappoint me. It was a captivating and critically successful movie, because of the storyline, and incredible production. One of my favorite singers even sings a song in it. I can see why it had great reviews.

The plot follows the protagonist who is one of the Chinese Gods and tries to bring back his power to fight against another God who wants to spell a disaster. I was shocked by this amazing plot and fantastic special effects. The film truly engulfed your attention with its powerful storyline that had many ups, and downs. Apart from that, there are some elements of humor that made the overall tone of the film very compelling to watch, and I never took my eyes off the screen for the entire movie.

The movie was filled with a lot of exciting elements that were full of emotion. What I like the most about this movie is that one of the songs is performed by Zhou Shen, a popular Chinese singer. He is creative and talented in different kinds of music, and I've been listening to his songs to kill time for several years. Overall, it was such an amazing film that I'd definitely recommend this film to anyone who are looking for some fantastic movies.

A 环保法律

Describe a law on environmental protection.

You should say:

What it is

How you first learned about it

Who benefits from it

And explain how you feel about this law

One of my college courses teaches about the environment and has allowed me to learn so much about the efforts being made to protect it. One day, while I was in class, I learned about a new law on water monitoring. If you don't mind, I'd like to bend your ear about it.

This law is all about monitoring our water resources to ensure that it is safe. Thanks to this law, water must be classified and tested through many different methods. This is quite a lengthy process, but it is worthwhile because it allows the water to be used in an appropriate manner. There is a lot of scientific research that goes into this process, but it is conducive to the rational distribution of water.

I feel that using scientific methods to create reasonable policies are important to ensure that we are using water to the best of our ability. This process could help improve the daily use of water, while ensuring corporations are not destroying the water supply that we need to drink. In fact, since it was put in place,, many enterprises were forced to change their ways. This law also encouraged people to pay attention to the water they used and to protect the water resources in their area to ensure a healthier future for us and our planet.

B 海边活动

And explain why you want to try it

For the longest time, I have wanted to improve my swimming skills. Ever since I was knee high to a grasshopper, I have dreamt of seeing the Australian Coral Reef. In order to do this, I needed to learn how to dive, which requires incredible swimming skills.

Diving has been on my agenda for some time now, but I simply haven't had the time to give it a try. It is an incredibly difficult activity, which is why I am concentrating on my swimming skills. You must have a high physical fitness level in order to dive, as you are under extreme pressure at such depths of water. You must be able to push back against the resistance, in order to swim. It will require a lot of training in order to pull this off.

I am trying to be as proactive as possible about learning how to dive. To begin with, I am doing aerobic exercises as often as I can to help improve my lung capacity. The more I exercise, it seems, the more I want to spend time moving my body. I am eager to get the ball rolling on my diving lessons though, because I want to understand coral a lot more. I feel that seeing the coral in person is the best way to do this. I hope to dedicate my life protecting the reef, which will require quite a bit of diving.

A few weeks ago, while I was visiting a friend in Shanghai, I had to break up a very intense argument. It all happened when we were playing a board game. All of a sudden my boyfriend and my friend from high school started arguing. Let me tell you all about it.

The board game was a little complicated because we had to play in groups. While everyone was tallying up group points, these two began to get cheased off with each other. They were on the same team and didn't really understand each other well. So, they both blamed one another for their team's loss. Things began to get pretty heated, which made everyone feel uncomfortable.

To be honest, I couldn't believe they were acting in such a manner over a board game. I felt as if I was watching children play a game, not adults. So, I immediately urged them to calm down and enjoy the journey opposed to concentrating solely on the outcome of the game. Unfortunately, they carried on acting the same way. They couldn't help but argue over who had the best strategy, which made everyone else want to skip playing games all together for some time. I was pretty frustrated with the situation and just wanted to go home.

During the winter of 2020, I found myself with a little extra time on my hands so I decided to surf around on Weibo. That's when I came across an interesting article that stated male college students didn't understand cosmetics.

I must admit, when I saw the headline for this article, I wasn't sure what to expect. However, it went on to tell the story of a college student who found a red lipstick at his campus, laying on the ground. He didn't know what it was, so when he posted on his school forum that it had been found, he marketed it as red glue. I must admit, I couldn't help but crack up when I read the article, because it all seemed so silly to me.

The article went into more detail about how boys didn't seem to understand cosmetics at all. So, instead of researching the item, they just make jokes to brush it off. I found this to be very interesting and it made absolute sense to me, because most of the guys I know are the same. Since this happened at my university, it really hit home. In fact, my entire university was laughing about the story. Perhaps, the article will inspire college men to learn more about cosmetics, so they can improve communication with their female companions.

When my freshman year of college started, I found myself feeling a little under the weather. So I spent a bit of time looking into ways to improve my health. Luckily, I came across an article about sleep and exercise, which truly changed my life.

At the time, I was having trouble getting to sleep because I was in a new setting and found school to be pretty stressful. After reading the article, I learned that exercising at night can actually help you fall into a deep sleep. Not only does it get rid of your body's excess energy, but it helps to clear your mind, so you don't lay in bed thinking all night. As soon as I read the article, I decided to make a plan to exercise on a daily basis.

After putting some thought into my routine, I decided that I wanted to take up table tennis. Luckily, a few of my friends were on board as well and planned to join me. So now we meet up each evening at seven and play until eight. It is actually a lot of fun and allows us to bond while we play together. Sometimes, this is the only time that we get to spend together, so I'm grateful that we now have table tennis to ensure we can hang out together when our studies become too much for us to bear.

During the Spring Festival, I had an unfortunate experience when I had dinner with my relatives. Since I needed to be respectful of everyone, I made sure I had a smile plastered on my face and that my phone was put away. Let me elaborate and bend your ear about this experience.

To be honest, I was a little surprised by the number of people that showed up to our holiday dinner. I had no idea who some of them were, so I just tried to be as polite as possible when they spoke to me. Before everyone arrived, my parents asked me to put my phone away so that our family didn't appear to be rude. I followed their request and tried to make as much small talk as possible. As you can imagine, this was fairly tough, considering I didn't know anything about our relatives.

I have to say, this experience was incredibly awkward for me. I was bored the entire time and couldn't help but feel like I was wasting my time. In most cases, I didn't know many of these relatives, since I was too young to remember them. Some of them I had never met before. To be honest, I don't think my parents even knew some of them. I felt like my holiday was pointless because I was forced to engage in meaningless social interactions with people I didn't even know.

As a child, I used to spend a lot of time at my grandma's house. When I was seven years old, she offered to teach me how to sew, which made me as happy as a clam. In fact, I still love this craft today, which is why I'd love to share more about this experience with you.

My grandma is a very talented person and has always sewn remarkable clothing. So, when she offered to show me the ropes, I was on top of the world. Our first lesson was how to thread the needle. I must admit, this was a lot harder than I thought it would be, as the hole was so small. Once I got the needle threaded, we worked on creating fine stitches. Then she showed me how to close the thread. I was pretty excited, because when our lesson was over, we'd sewn an adorable rabbit puppet for me to play with.

This experience was a lot of fun for me. I was taken aback by the amount of patience and care that went into the craft though. My grandma is a very gentle and meticulous person, so the craft suits her perfectly. She has always been concerned about my development, so she tried to teach me many basic life skills when I was little. Whenever I think back on my sewing lessons, it warms my heart and brings me immense comfort.

(a crafty person means the person is sly and vindictive or not a nice person. Your sentence would be that your grandma was talented in a craft not crafty) Keep up the good work, you are doing great)

Zurich is an incredible city. When I paid it a visit, I was immediately struck by its beauty. The natural scenery is unique and easy on the eyes while the climate is very suitable. This city has numerous gardens to explore, which quickly became one of my favorite past times. It also sells some of the best chocolate in the world. I am going to talk about an occasion when I helped one of my friends by sharing the love stories of my boyfriend and me, and telling him the truth.

A couple of months ago, one of my best friends told me that he was blocked by a girl whom he had a crush on in a social media platform, and he was so confused that he asked me for help. I asked him what happened, and I got to know that the girl already had a boyfriend, and he still sent her quite a lot of messages. So, I shared a lot of details of my relationship with my boyfriend and what we considered important in a relationship with him. He was fascinated by our sweet relationship, and he really hoped that he could fall in love with the girl I mentioned before. However, from a girl's perspective, I understood that the reason why he was refused, and pulled into the blacklist was that he had a low EQ, not because the girl wanted to keep distance with other man. So, I tell him the truth.

Well, he was so disappointed about my explanation, but he knew it was true. I knew it was cruel to show him his shortcomings, but I think he would grow up and finally become a romantic, mature adult.

Just a few weeks ago, I found myself in an embarrassing situation when my boyfriend argued with one of my high school classmates over a silly board game. Because of this, I had a long talk with him about his temper. In the end, I offered some tips to help him overcome this problem.

It all started while we were hanging out with together friends. My boyfriend argued intensely with a friend of mine because they could not strategize well together. I couldn't believe he was acting in such a manner and left the party without him. The following day, I called him to chat about his temper. I pointed out that his behavior was not acceptable and he needed to work on his temper. I was pretty nervous to share this with him, but I felt relieved when he was willing to hear what I had to say.

In order to help him get control of his temper, I suggested that he worked on a technique called 'belly breathing'. This is a great way to calm the mind and body when things aren't going your way. Apart from that, I suggested that he workout more, in order to burn off some of his energy. He took my words to heart and immediately started to implement them into his lifestyle. I have already noticed a big change in his temper, which makes me feel proud that I was able to help him.

In October, my father and I went shopping at the Wealth Center on Unity Road, which isn't far from our home. We were looking for the latest iPad and ended up having a great shopping experience. I'd love to tell you more about this experience, if you don't mind.

I wanted an iPad for quite some time, so my father finally told me he would purchase one for me. So the two of us set out to find the best possible deal. It didn't take long before we found a store that was willing to bargain with my dad. They were even kind enough to let me try the iPads out to see which one I would like the most. I ended up picking the latest edition, because it seemed to run the smoothest. Overall, our shopping experience was quick and productive, which made us both happy.

Even though this tablet cost a pretty penny, I feel that it is value for money. The iPad makes it very easy for me to study, especially when I am commuting, or I don't want to be cooped up in my dorm room or want to study at the library. On top of that, the iPad is great for my parents too. They like to look up their favorite TV shows and spend hours cuddled up together watching their programs on it.
